

Abstract

A multi-purpose tool comprising a handle having a nose in which is formed a point of attachment for a flange. The flange is inclined with respect 5 to the handle and includes a hinge portion that is adapted to receive an accessory.